

Overview of Montana's Secondary Family & Consumer Sciences Programs

Our Mission:

Family and Consumer Sciences (FCS) Education helps prepare students for family life, work life, and careers in Family and Consumer Sciences by providing opportunities to develop the knowledge, skills, attitudes, and behaviors needed through character development, creative and critical thinking, interpersonal communication, practical knowledge, and career preparation.

Our Vision:

Family and Consumer Sciences Education empowers individuals and families across the life span to manage the challenges of living and working in a diverse global society. Our unique focus is on families, work and their interrelationships.

Overview:

In 2012-2013, Montana had 107 approved FCS high school programs taught by 141 FCS teachers serving 8,645 students. FCS programs enable students to acquire broad, transferable skills for employment and personal life as well as job-specific skills in careers related to early childhood development, education, social and human services, food production and management, hospitality and tourism, apparel and interior design, and entrepreneurship. FCS programs can also be found in middle schools across the state. The National Standards for FCS can be found at www.nasafacs.org.

Big Sky Pathways:

Family & Consumer Sciences content identifies with multiple Career Cluster areas. In Montana, Big Sky Pathways between secondary FCS programs and post-secondary institutions have been created in the following Career Cluster areas:
